Paris, May 21, 2025

A strong presence in a thriving region

The Western Region—which includes Nantes, Rennes, and Laval—boasts a solid network of SMEs and mid-sized companies (ETIs), forming a key growth lever for RSM, a longstanding and well-established player in the area.

“We have built strong recognition in the region, with deep-rooted relationships forged over many years with our clients and partners. Our ambition is to strengthen this momentum by continuing our development, investing in our people, and reinforcing our role as a trusted partner for local businesses,” says Christophe Blandin.

RSM in the West: Driven by Transformation, Innovation, and Collective Strength

In recent years, the Western region has stood out within RSM for its dynamism, particularly through the development of innovative services such as Business Intelligence, Process Digitalization, and Organizational Transformation Consulting. These new offerings enhance the firm’s traditional areas of expertise: audit, accounting, payroll/HR, and business law.

This momentum is underpinned by a strong collective approach. Thanks to this team-oriented mindset, clients benefit from a structured and coordinated support system that addresses both current and future challenges.

“We’ve chosen to stay ahead by supporting our teams in the evolution of our professions. Collaboration, innovation, and continuous training are key to meeting business leaders’ expectations and building sustainable growth,” adds Christophe Blandin.

RSM continues to strengthen its position in the region while contributing to a national synergy—bringing together cross-functional expertise and competencies in service of its clients.

About Christophe Blandin

Christophe Blandin has been a partner at RSM France since 2017.

He joined the firm in 2001 and has since advised numerous SME leaders and family-owned business groups across various sectors, including services, real estate, and industry.

Specializing in business advisory, Christophe provides expertise in core areas such as accounting and executive consulting. His skill set spans a wide range of services, including statutory audit, preparation of consolidated financial statements, and corporate taxation.
