All boards should be equipped with the tools they need to exercise their right to challenge senior leadership decisions and effect both cultural and behavioral shifts were necessary. Without a sustainable governance framework, people can act for their own reasons and without considering the consequences for the wider organization.

Effective corporate governance is not achieved just by putting measures in place – the measures must also be assessed to ensure they truly promote integrity and improve corporate culture.

Today's risk environment is nothing short of disruptive. Escalating cyberattacks, threats to internal digital transformation efforts and endless regulatory changes are affecting the way businesses manage risk. While these factors pose a threat to your operations, working with a trusted advisor can strengthen your governance and risk management processes.

Corporate governance is at the heart of an organization's long-term sustainability. It holds together performance and purpose, aspirations and accountability, objectives and outcomes.

Over and above compliance with legal requirements, effective corporate governance establishes consistent policies for managing your risks and challenges as well as key social, environmental and ethical issues.

At RSM, we've been advising boards and organizations on effective corporate governance and good decision making for many years.

We understand the threats that your business may face. From the banking crisis to the rise of cybercrime, recent history demonstrates the importance of identifying threats, and the appropriate response, at an early stage.

PARTNERING WITH YOU

We start by understanding the challenges that your business is facing, bringing on board experts to provide the precise consultancy support you require, and working closely with you to propose solutions that answer your needs.

A key factor in delivering our governance risk control advisory services to such high standards, is ensuring our clients are kept fully up to date with every step of the process, always ensuring accountability and transparency. As a result, we are active, not reactive, and provide support and guidance as your systems and processes develop.
